A SINGULAR CASE.

The People of Whitestone Excited-A Little

antly excited over an occurrence of a rather mar nature which took place on Thursday even-k appears from the various statements connamed Ballard, doing business as a druggist, has had a female in his employ for some time with whom he has had considerable difficulty, and it is said that she was often violently abused. On the above night an altercation occurred between them, and a large crowd was attracted to the premises, the majority being women and children. Mr. Ballard was once seen to approach the fence, which, had the enect of causing the crowd to retreat, and soon after a sharp report was heard, and a little girl named Weaver crist out piteously that sae had been shot. On examination it was found that her forchead was tradiy bruised, and that a hole had been made through her tongue by some mysterious means. Ballard was arrested and discharged on his own recognizance to appear for examination on Tuesday next. Much excitement prevalls, and private individuals have expressed a determination to prosecute Ballard without mercy. Some have talked of lynching him if the girl's injuries praye-faist.

ANOTHER EAR-IE ACCIDENT.

A Man Gets Into a Fight and "Walks Off on

The roughs of New York have peculiar ways their thing. People who are familiar with the feats of disty strength which this delectable portion of our disorderly community exhibit every once in a white when their pockets are flush and their dauder above par, thanks to bad whiskey and brutal instincts, will recollect that one John Haggerty, alias John Russell, who thinks he lives at No. 617 Seventh avenue, got into a pleasant little squabble some time ago with a young man whom some people call "Reddy, the Blacksmith." Haggerty is an importation from Philadelphia, and enjoys a reputation which the police know all about and the public records of good character nothing whasever. Reddy had some bad lager ab ard when he disagreed with Mr. Haggerty and got badly mauled, and ever since that time Haggerty has been strutting about to see whose coat tail he could tread upon. Last Thursday night he and a gang of his went up fown and got full of whiskey—that is, what is called whiskey in some places. An individual named Edwin R. Chandler, of 401 West Thirty-seventh street, was of the gentlemanly party. Everything went smoothly with the gentleman until they reached the corner of Twenty-seventh street, was of the gentlemanly party. Everything went smoothly with the gentleman suntil they reached the corner of Twenty-seventh street, was of the gentlemanly party. The latter won the first knockdown. Chandler strove to get to his feet, but Haggerty. The latter won the first knockdown. Chandler strove to get to his feet, but Haggerty. The latter won the first knockdown. Chandler strove to get to his feet, but Haggerty couldn't see the point and threw himself upon his victim, and, amid the cheers of his gang, actually bit off one of his antagonist's cars close to the head, and then cheers of his gang actually bit off one of his antagonist's cars close to the head, and then cheers of his gang actually bit off one of his antagonist's cars close to the head, and then believe the came upon the scene and arrested the two bulies, who were taken to the stail on house and locked up.
